Selected IT Support Work

The examples below reflect real responsibilities and support situations from my Helpdesk and Desktop Support experience.

01 Identity and Access Lifecycle Support

SITUATION	Employees required account creation, modification, password assistance, access restoration, or secure deactivation during onboarding and offboarding.
ACTIONS	Verified request details, reviewed the correct user profile or access model, processed Active Directory lifecycle tasks, handled password resets and account unlocks, supported MFA requests, and documented each action in the ticket.
RESULT	Users received the appropriate access while security, verification, and escalation procedures remained documented and traceable.

02 Remote Endpoint and Connectivity Troubleshooting

SITUATION	Remote users experienced laptop, application, VPN, audio, peripheral, wired, or wireless connectivity problems that interrupted daily work.
ACTIONS	Confirmed symptoms and impact, guided the user through safe checks, used remote-support tools when appropriate, tested hardware and software settings, restarted affected sessions or devices when required, and escalated unresolved issues with complete notes.
RESULT	Common issues were resolved at first line, while complex cases reached the correct support team with clear reproduction steps and troubleshooting history.

03 Priority Incident Triage and Escalation

SITUATION	Several high-priority reports or a service outage required fast validation, communication, and coordination across support teams.
ACTIONS	Verified affected users and business impact, performed approved first-level troubleshooting, coordinated with the Incident Manager, recorded timestamps and actions, and maintained clear status updates throughout the incident.
RESULT	Stakeholders received consistent information and the next-level team had the evidence needed to continue investigation without repeating completed checks.
